

WHO ARE THEY?: BRENT WILLIAMS AND DALE BEAUMONT (PICTURED IN BLUE).

WHAT DO THEY DO? HELP TEENAGERS.

What is Tomorrow's Youth all about? When you're a teenager there are so many distractions that can lead you down the wrong path. Our personal development courses give teens life skills such as setting goals, career and financial management.

How did you come up with the idea for the courses? A few days before Brent sat for his HSC some young guys held a gun to his head outside a club. Dale, who'd been a friend throughout school, had lost his brother not long before. These events made us think about doing something.

What was your first seminar like? It all started in July 2002 in front of 42 teenagers. We were so nervous our mouths were completely dry! Since then more than 5,000 kids have attended our seminars in Indonesia, New Zealand and, of course, all around Australia. But it hasn't always been that easy. There was a time when we didn't get one call, or when we printed the wrong phone number on our brochure!

What changes have you seen in the people you work with? We see major changes occur in the kids in a weekend – it's sensational. One guy who came to our two-day course when he was 19 is now a millionaire! An 18-year-old girl has started a skincare business and has just bought her first investment property. But it's not all about creating wealth; it's about setting goals and getting what you want out of life.

If you're always inspiring people, who inspires you?

We love films, so probably Steven Spielberg and George Lucas. But Richard Branson would have to be the number one hero – he's charismatic, always having fun and a great ambassador for young entrepreneurs.

Where do you think you'll be in five years' time?

We hope that Tomorrow's Youth will have cracked the American market by then. That would be huge!
